Hill International to Support United States Army Corps of Engineers South Pacific Division

July 27, 2018

PHILADELPHIA, PA and SAN FRANCISCO, CA – July 27, 2018 – Hill International (NYSE:HIL), the global leader in managing construction risk, announced it will provide construction management support services to the United States Army Corps of Engineers' (USACE) South Pacific Division in support of multiple military construction and civil works projects.

Hill, as a subconsultant to HDR, will provide construction management and project control service for task order assignments during this five-year, $40 million contract with the USACE's South Pacific Division, whose area of operations includes California, Nevada, Arizona, Utah, and New Mexico.

"This is a tremendous opportunity for Hill to help deliver projects under the $3 billion Veterans Affairs Program, as well as support for the civil works and MILCON Program" said Hill's Joseph Zukowski, Vice President, Business Development. "Hill maintains a deep roster of construction management experts with the experience and skills needed to respond to the many needs that task order contracts require. We plan to be a responsive resource for the Corps on a number of assignments."

Hill International, with more than 3,000 professionals in more than 50 offices worldwide, provides program management, project management, construction management, and other consulting services to clients in a variety of market sectors. Engineering News-Record magazine recently ranked Hill as the eighth-largest construction management firm in the United States.
